

bigger fish

swimming together in an ocean of time and energy we're pushed and pulled by the ebb and flow and swirl of forces greater than ourselves by mass energetic trends and patterns some of which we create as a group some of which are created as a product of nature and all life.

perhaps we swim with some bigger fish forms of intelligence far in advance of our own or maybe just different beyond our understanding if not our perception we may perceive some of them as predatory we may perceive some of them as benevolent but no matter how old or powerful they may be none of them are gods they're all instruments of evolution nothing more nothing less just as we are.
