

ice house

cold weather is no innocent bystander it stabs the heart like a gleaming ice pick it peels back the skin like a fur trapper's knife it runs through the bones like liquid hydrogen till steam comes out the nose till fingers crack + bleed till blood thickens + pools till the house is empty at last.

Excerpted from Iron Man Family Outing: Poems about Transition into a More Conscious Manhood by Rick Belden. Copyright © 1990, 2009 by Rick Belden. This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Noncommercial-No Derivative Works 3.0 Unported License.

www.rickbelden.com