

red meat head games

disappointed + angry today because I have to find some work
soon
money-making work
I hate this.

here's what I value most:

honesty integrity clarity independence passion freedom simplicity awareness nature.

here's what I see at work:

lying greedy plastic noisy apathetic wasteful groupthink cowardly cynical carrot + stick sterile confusing corner-cutting crisis mode manipulation denial vampires drunken sugar overtime cocaine red meat head games upscale unconscious IRA adrenaline rush.

I guess I'm not a very good corporate soldier.

I'm tired of sitting behind someone else's desk
doing
someone else's work
living
someone else's life waiting for things to get better/worse.

always working faster + harder (we need it yesterday hahaha . . .) to provide more technology
to make our lives faster + harder more confusing
more complicated
more dangerous
less conscious
less meaningful less personal less human.

let's slow this thing down folks I don't know about you but my techno wet dream's over.
